Evolution is more than a scientific theory; it is part of a structure of religious belief that, at its essence, removes the Creator from His creation. Save yourself hours of wading through technical material. Here's a summary of some of the most powerful philosophical and conceptual arguments against evolution. Pass them on to your children. Get the job done in 15 minutes!

I. The big bang theory

What evolutionists believe:

That all of creation started with a big bang. A subsequent swirling mass threw out chunks of matter that would continue in similar orbits; obviously they would be made of similar materials.

What's the matter with that view?

1. To believe that first there was nothing and then that "nothing" exploded is irrational.
2. Explosions cause chaos, never order. What does a building look like after it has been bombed?
3. It defies the second law of thermodynamics that everything wears out and runs down over time. All about us we see that food rots, cars break down, ill health emerges in old age, etc.
4. Cosmologists observe that stars are burning up their fuel, not making new, and that some stars have died altogether.
